Panel to hear case of dismissed teacher

An Amador Valley High School choral music teacher who is contesting a dismissal based on the district's allegation of "evident unfitness for service" will have a hearing before a three-member panel on Monday, Aug. 23.

Miriam Wain, a permanent certificated employee of the Amador district with 10 years of service, her legal representative, and district legal rep Keith Breen will appear before a determination panel made up of one person from the state Office of Administrative Procedures, a district representative and one selected by Mrs. Wain. The latter must have spent five of the last 10 years in the same subject field as the person charged.

Following the hearing, a decision will be rendered with both parties, the district and Mrs. Wain, possessing the right to appeal. Any appeal would be heard in Alameda County Superior Court.

Eight legal-size pages of acts or omissions, under the charge of "evident unfitness for service," are listed.

These alleged acts or omissions state specific dates and places but do not include names of other parties.

Superintendent Bruce Newlin, in his statement of charges and recommendation for declaration of intention to dismiss, to the Board of Trustees of the Amador district, has made the following allegations:

— Respondent exhibited poor judgement on or about June, 1975, by responding to parental pressure and permitted parents to determine what grades to be given their sons.

— Respondent is unable to maintain or increase interest in vocal music which is evidenced by a declining enrollment over a period of years and declining parent interest and cooperation.

— Respondent evidences being unfit to teach and associate with students by being rude, argumentative and defensive, unable to conduct classes with warmth, cooperation and friendliness, unable to create an acceptable environment in her classroom and unable to properly discipline students.

Mrs. Wain is also accused of 16 specific instances of alleged "inability to properly and adequately organize and plan," as contained in descriptions of various field trips, faculty meetings, and relationships with other faculty members, students and parents.

Twenty other instances of alleged "inability to establish positive relationships with many faculty members, parents, and students" are cited, the statement from Newlin adding alleged occurrences were not limited to the 20.

Mrs. Wain has instructed choral music at Amador Valley High School and has also worked with choral and little theater productions in the valley.

State denies bond funds for project

DUBLIN — Historic Fallon House will probably never be rebuilt from its burned ruins.

Hopes of getting state help for the $12,000 rebuilding project were unexpectedly crushed yesterday when the Alameda County Planning Department got a call from the State Department of Parks and Recreation ruling against that use of state bond money.

Ott Bauer, chief of the state grants division, ruled that rebuilding the destroyed structure did not fit within state guidelines for how the 1974 bond money could be spent.

Judy Earl, president of the Dublin Historic Preservation Association, heard the news from assistant county planning director Bruce Fry as she waited for a meeting of the Parks Advisory Commission to get underway.

The meeting never did begin because only four of the 10 commission members showed up. It was the second week in a row the commission failed to get a quorum.

The Fallon House, built in 1852, was the cabin of an early valley settler, Jeremiah Fallon. The Dublin preservation group had planned to use their $7,000 state grant to move the old wooden cabin from its Foothill Road-Pleasanton site to an historical center they're developing on Donlon Way in Dublin.

After the building was accidentally burned in a fire training exercise in May, preservationists sifted through the rubble and managed to salvage most of the metal hardware and much of the original lumber. They had detailed plans and photographs of the old building, a $3,000 donation from two developers and a promise of volunteer help from contractor Ken Hart of Pleasanton.

Without the state money, Mrs. Earl says there is little chance of rebuilding the house. "We will probably just build a model in memory of Fallon House," she said.

She added the DHPA will probably decide to ask the state for the money to spend on the restoration of old Murray School or one of the other expensive projects such as moving a blacksmith shop and an old general store into the heritage center.

According to a prior agreement, the funding could be divided between two other Southern Alameda County projects, one in Hayward and the other in Castro Valley.

The Fallon House was to have been situated on an acre of land donated by the Hexcel Corporation. A $3,000 donation was received a week ago from Stoneson Company and Taubman, owners of the Foothill Road property on which the Fallon House is located.

The DHPA has no income of its own aside from membership fees, donations from community groups and occasional fund raisers.

Hospital plans revealed

PLEASANTON — A group of doctors and business people seeking to build a west valley hospital have had contact with Stoneson Corporation about possibly locating the medical center near the proposed Stoneridge Regional Center.

That fact was revealed Wednesday night at the planning commission by local attorney Alan Grossman, who mentioned it in an effort to prevent the commission from granting Valley Memorial Hospital and Anthony Morici zoning for its hospital and some related office and multiple residential zoning on 63 acres near Las Positas Boulevard and Santa Rita Road.

The planning commission granted the zoning on a 3-0 vote (Commissioners Robert Butler and Gregg Doherty absent), after protests from Grossman and former mayor Robert Pearson who claimed what they considered a hurry to grant the zoning.

Valley Memorial Hospital doesn't have a permit yet from the state and federal licensing authorities, so there is no need to grant the zoning now, said Grossman. But granting it could put the kibosh on the doctors' chances of getting a license for a hospital on the Stoneridge site, he said.

But the commissioners agreed with Commissioner Dave Shepherd who said the Valley Memorial site is good planning and the commission will expect that it will be carried out. "We just have to weigh the risk of that course of action," said Shepherd.

The planners liked the idea of one big package for the site: approximately 23 acres of public and institutional zoning for the hospital itself, nearly 20 acres for offices related to the hospital and approximately 20 acres of multiple residential which will house some of the hospital's emergency personnel.

Pearson thought the multiple and office zoning was superfluous. Commercial zoning with sewer priorities exists nearby and could be rezoned to the medical offices which the hospital needs. Multiple zoning with sewer priorities is present across the street from the site and could accommodate hospital personnel at least through through the first phase of the hospital's development, said Pearson. The hospital site has no

Sunol issue's dead says Joe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Mayor Joseph Alioto, saying they are "beating a dead horse," appeared today before a federal grand jury which is investigating the leasing of the Sunol Valley Golf Course.

Alioto's appearance was in response to a letter from attorney Thomas Kotoske, head of the federal organized crime strike force in San Francisco which is conducting the probe.

The lease of the 36 hole golf course on San Francisco water department land near Pleasanton has been investigated by various agencies since it was learned in September 1974 that former eastern mob figure Tony Romano had acquired the lease.

"We just took his money and threw him out," Alioto told reporters before entering the grand jury room.

Land impact may stall zoning

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Further division of agriculturally zoned land east of Pleasanton into five-acre, "rural residential" homesites appears stymied following release yesterday of a county planning department study.

County supervisor Joseph Bort, the board's apparent swing vote in the controversy over rezoning three lots on Trenery Drive near Martin Avenue, said yesterday he "cannot go for it" based on a reading of the planning staff's report.

Supervisors last month ordered their planning department to prepare a study of the total 180 acres bordered by Oakland, Mohr and Martin avenues after Pleasanton attorney John Corley plead his case for rezoning one of the 10-acre plots.

Corley wants the board to cut the lot into two, 5-acre parcels for individual homes. He does not yet own the land, but plans to build his estate on one of the lots. The move, he emphasized at the time, is not "land speculation."

But Corley's request was quickly followed by those of adjoining land owners George Haywood and George Chaves, who want to cut their two, 10-acre plots into "rural residential" homesites.

Their land in turn abuts a 21 acre site, with 50-, 24- and 30-acre holdings on the other side of Trenery Drive.

The board apparently fears other owners, parcel noting profits from rural development over agricultural land and their rising property taxes, will bring out similar requests.

County planners, in addressing all the acreage, fear a degradation of

Eager tenants for sports center

DUBLIN — Requests for field use at the Dublin Sports Grounds will soon be accepted from local athletic groups and other sports minded people according to the Valley Community Services District (VCSd.)

As the Grounds near completion notices will be mailed to various athletic groups announcing a VCSd meeting where procedures will be explained. Those who aren't notified should watch the newspaper for an announcement about the meeting.

Some of the groups who have already shown an interest are Dublin Valley Little League, Dublin Little League, The Dublin Women's Softball Association, Dublin Men's Softball Association, Valley Softball Association, Dublin Soccer and San Ramon Soccer League.

Nearly all have experienced play field problems in past seasons.

For instance, the women's softball group has shifted to two or three different fields in recent years. Little League teams play on land donated by Kodak, but could someday have to forfeit the space should their benefactor need the land.

Boys soccer has in the past spilled into the girls' season, and the new Valley Softball Association has just completed a long grind with the school district over field usage.

The sports grounds would be a stabilizing force for recreational groups, providing three soccer fields, five little league fields and two softball diamonds.

seats they plan to have for night games this season. A contract for lighting was awarded by the Amador Valley Joint High School District board to Gould Electric last week.

The lights - bleachers project is a cooperative effort of the Amador district and Foothill Boosters. The latter is concentrating fund-raising efforts for bleachers and has a host of projects in progress.

They are selling individual season tickets to Foothill home games for $29. The $750 contribution by Sun Classic is the price established for a full row of season tickets. For $400, business firms or civic groups may purchase a half-row of seats.

Also in progress is a sweepstakes raffle in which a Volkswagen Rabbit, color television, radial tires and other prizes are being offered. Proceeds will go to the field fund and the drawing is slated for Friday, Oct. 8, hopefully the very first night game at the Foothill field.

The Boosters, along with $50,000 generated by community service taxes from the Amador district, plan to improve the total Foothill athletic complex—running track, press box, scoreboard, 10 tennis courts, two dugouts, backstop and completion of a second baseball field.

Noah's Ark and Foothill High School have something in common!

And thanks to Noah, or more precisely to Sun Classic Pictures of Los Angeles, the Pleasanton school has received its first major contribution towards placing bleachers at the school's football field.

A check for $750 was received by the Foothill High Athletic Boosters Tuesday from Ray Jensen, president of the film production company which shot "In Search of Noah's Ark," currently premiering throughout Northern California.

The Boosters need slightly more than $33,000 to pay for 1,880 bleacher

LAVWMA stalls on ballot lines

PLEASANTON — With the deadline for placing the bond issue on the November ballot drawing ever closer, the Livermore Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) last night postponed until Wednesday its decision on whether to put one measure or two before the electorate.

The board voted unanimously to table its decision in order to allow its representatives to seek direction from their local council.

At issue is whether LAVWMA should ask the voters to approve one bond issue for the entire pipeline or two bond issues (one for the basic project and one for additional industrial capacity requested by Livermore and Pleasanton).

This week the Pleasanton City Council voted unanimously in favor of one bond measure on the theory that it will be more difficult to get two "yes" votes than one. Mayor Robert Philcox indicated that without the industrial capacity, the project is not viable.

But also this week, the Livermore City Council voted unanimously in favor of two ballot measures, fearing that the Valley Community Services District voters might oppose the additional capacity even though they would not pay for it.

VCS's representatives Lila Euler and Ron Hyde disagreed on the direction given them by their board.

So now the matter goes back to the various jurisdictions on Monday and Tuesday. LAVWMA delegates will meet again Wednesday to draw up the ballot resolution (or resolutions), only two days before the August 20 deadline to consolidate the measure with the general election.

Project director Dan Murphy pointed out that final concept approval from the state will not be secured until three weeks after the deadline to consolidate the elections.

This means LAVWMA runs a small risk that the cost figures on the ballot may not reflect the project's true cost should the state decide to alter the project design at the last minute.

But Murphy said the state promised to furnish LAVWMA with tentative concept approval by August 19.

Sign of the season

Here at Frederiksen School in Dublin, and throughout the vicinity, boys and girls are sweating off the pounds and honing the skills for soccer season. Livermore, Pleasanton, San Ramon and Dublin teams open another season Sept. 11 with parades and special celebrations. They'll play for 12 weeks till late in November, then rest briefly prior to the State Cup playoffs that carry into spring. The best players will be selected for summer all-star teams that disband just in time for pre-season drills again next August. Rough estimates indicate 10,000 kids will be involved in this area. (Times photo) sewer connection priorities, he added.

Dick Braden of Mackay and Soms, which wrote the preliminary draft of the Environmental Impact Report for the site, said that by the time the hospital develops around 1980 to 1982, there should be plenty of sewer connections available. The voters are likely to approve of construction of the LAVWMA super sewer line which will create much more sewer capacity in Pleasanton, said Braden.

The planning commission put the zoning in a Planned Unit Development and stated that the office and multiple zoning's development would not run ahead of the stages of hospital development.

Valley Memorial Hospital proponents agreed with the phasing, and Jack Bras of the hospital board hoped that there would not be a lot of red tape which would slow down the offices because attracting doctors is essential to the hospital's development.

Since Valley Memorial does not have a permit to build the hospital yet, Commissioner Bill Jamieson asked how a new state law would affect the chances of getting the permit. The new law will put a freeze on new beds because the state has a surplus of 22,000 hospital beds, said Jamieson.

Livermore's pyrrhic victory—driest of all

The driest year on record.

That was the report from nearly all of the over 200 observer stations throughout the East Bay. The final figures for the 1975-76 rain season are in, and the extent of that "Great Drought" is evident.

The average for Alameda County in the past 12 months was nine inches of rainfall. That is 55 percent below normal.

Hardest hit was this Valley with measurable rainfall as low as five inches, primarily in the Livermore regions.

Poorest reading in the Pleasanton end of the Valley was 7.16 inches, or ten inches less than the 25-year mean.

One station at Concannon Winery east of Livermore reported just 4.77 inches of moisture for the 12 months, almost 14 inches below "normal."

Livermore County Fire Station recorded 5.39 inches. The Livermore Lab 5.42 inches. The very best that community could report was 7.57 inches at the V.A. Hospital.

Pleasanton had only slightly better readings, with a high of 10.82 at one Fallwood Court station near Foothill Road.

Sunol, as usual, was slightly ahead of the Valley average, with readings ranging from 8.6 to 10.7 inches.

Dublin recorded from 7.3 to 9.3 inches at those local stations.

Northern Alameda County had from 9 to 14 inches, about half that region's normal rainfall.

In Contra Costa County, Alamo Creek recorded 7.7 inches, Danville a high of 9 inches, Orinda 15.4 inches, the wettest spot in the East Bay, but still only 48 percent of what that same station has averaged over the years.

Not since the dust-bowl years of the 1930's have most of these East Bay stations had such dismal readings to report.

Tricky Pleasanton merge

PLEASANTON — The sharp merge to Sunol Boulevard from Main Street near the Corral Drive—in is unsafe and ought to be changed, Planning Commissioner Bill Jamieson said Wednesday night.

The merging lane used to be a long one, like a freeway on - ramp, Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby explained. But that encouraged motorists on Sunol Boulevard to race against those coming on the street, so the traffic staff decided on a sharply merging lane.

The new lane has caused several near - accidents, said Jamieson. Sooby acknowledged he has had complaints about it and the item has come before the city's traffic committee several times. The traffic engineer reviewed it, but didn't think a change was in order.

Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell said that the sharp merger forces motorists to slow down and that promotes safety.

"Then put in a stop sign," said Jamieson. "It's dangerous. Put in a sharp curve and force people to stop. If you had so many comments, why do you continue to throw the off with the sharp merge?"

Campbell thought perhaps a concrete barrier between the main road and the merge area might be in order to promote safety.

Planning commissioners and many other citizens have complained about the sharp angle of the merge lane on Sunol Boulevard at the end of Main Street. Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell said that the city may consider installing a concrete barrier for safer separation. (Times Photo by Steve Atkinson)

ey. I understand he lost $200,000," Alioto said of Romano. "The city is now making $5,000 a month on what is basically grazing land. I think (the city) Public Utilities Commission is doing a good job. He just bailed us out."

Youth dies in Sierra during 28-day hike

FRESNO — Allen W. Mead, 19, of Pleasanton, died while hiking near the 12,000-foot elevation of the Sierra Nevada and results of an autopsy here indicated the youth succumbed to intestinal hemorrhaging.

Fresno County Deputy Coroner Keith Stubbs said last night that additional laboratory tests will be made during the next few days to determine what specifically caused the infection.

Mead was the son of S. W. Mead, 7793 Fairbrook Court, Pleasanton. He was reported to be midway through a 28-day backpacking trip in the rugged mountain range when he died Tuesday in the northeast corner of Kings Canyon National Park, rangers said.

A companion, Craig Peer, 20, of Rancho Palo Verde, hiked 20 miles to notify the park service. Mead's body was recovered Wednesday and was turned over to the coroner's office here.

Peer told officials that Mead complained of a stomach ache and began vomiting Monday night. The next day, he became weak and was short of breath, Peer added.

Senate aide killed

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — A staff aide to Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., was among four persons killed in an apparent Palestinian attempt to hijack an Israeli airliner at the Istanbul airport, the U.S. Consulate reported.

The attack Wednesday night ended with the surrender of two Palestinian terrorists. Officials said 26 persons were wounded, two of them American women. The El Al jet flew safely to Tel Aviv.

Officials at the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv said the dead American was Harold Wallace Rosenthal, 29.

Trenery zone doubtful

the underground water supply and increased burdens on the county's tax supplied coffers.

The chances of connecting to the City of Pleasanton's utilities in the near future—or outright annexation by the city—seem minimal, the report says, hence the homes will be served by septic tanks and private water wells.

If the division continues, as the planners assume in their analysis, there will be 41 septic tanks on the 180 acres where there currently are 10.

Two similar areas the planners say began with the same type of division are under septic tank freezers, the report notes, after reaching the same one home per 4.4 acre ratio that would occur in the subject property.

The 41 septic tanks would discharge about 12,300 gallons of sewage effluent per day "in an area of gravelly soils with a water table at a depth of approximately 80 feet."

Similarly, a municipal well near Buena Vista Avenue, also served by septic tanks, had to be shut down because of high nitrate concentrations.

Both Pleasanton and Zone 7 of the county's water district have wells nearby, the report says.

"Without annexation the county will be responsible for providing structural fire protection, police services, animal control services, planning and zoning functions, building inspection and other services to this area," says the report.

"The cost of those services will generally be financed by the county's general fund, with its primary source of revenue as the property tax."

Valley supervisor John Murphy, who favors the rezoning, has told the board that the remaining acreage can be held from subdivision, but Bort apparently still is not impressed.

"I tried to divorce (the lands under consideration) from the whole, 180 parcel," said Bort, "but I just can't do it."

The property owners, on the other hand, say they have technical reports which rebut the county planning staff.

The owners will meet with Bort in the next month to lobby their case.

Meanwhile, the board has set Sept. 2 for a vote.

Birthday for kids' troupe

DANVILLE—The Children's Repertory Company marked its first birthday this week with a performance of "Salute to Broadway '76" at Veterans' Hall.

Organized by Caren Black, a graduate of Northwestern University with a Masters in theatre, the company is composed of 20 six-through nine-year-olds from the valley, Walnut Creek and Concord.

Purpose is to give "high quality performance experience" to those children in the area who desire such.

The group also affords peer-age entertainment for area school children who watch the performances, a total audience the past year of over 3,000. Company members are chosen in open auditions and are judged on the basis of ability in singing, acting, dancing, on cooperation, attitude and parents' support.

Next auditions will be held Sept. 27 through Oct. 1 in Danville, Walnut Creek, Lafayette, and Concord. Call backs will be held on Oct. 2 at the regular rehearsal studios on S.Hartz in Danville.

Due to numerous requests, a second group will be formed for 10 to 13-year-olds. All interested children between 6 and 13 are encouraged to audition.

Company members pay a company fee and a costume fee totaling approximately 50 cents per hour of rehearsal time. This fall they will be required to take one class in movement, voice, and pantomime, in addition to rehearsals, which will be an additional cost.

Ms. Black notes that none of the parents who have volunteered many hours of sewing, making sets, dressing kids, driving, typing, etc., are paid anything. Ms. Black adds that, as director, she donates use of her own school's facilities and has given her money to the company.

She began her study of dance at age 3, and has studied, performed at and taught piano during a period of 23 years. Earning certificates of study in Paris in the summers of 1968 and 69, she performed there in both piano and dance. Ms. Black is 28.

Company members have performed "Salute to Broadway '76" earlier this year at California High in San Ramon, Monte Vista on July 4 and at the Concord Playhouse.

Members of the company include Heidi Fredgren of San Ramon and Katherine Batcho, Erin Beth, Kristi Bricker, Sally Ann Carstensen, Ricky Cox, Aimee Hamilton, Kamala Hamilton, Rusty Heilig, Timmy Heilig, David Howard, Laura Kelley, Kim Lane, Nicholas Moore, Courtney Nelson, Beth Ann Nester, Tanya Lynn Ronald, Troy Smith, Eric Wallner, and Maureen Vinson.

Ms. Black may be reached at 820-0618.

Attorney defends private talk

PLEASANTON — A few in the audience were irate Monday night when the city council went into executive session, but City Attorney Ken Scheidig told The Times that the council had proper grounds to do it.

The council discussed the implications for possible litigation against the city on two items which were on the agenda later in the evening. One was the recreational vehicle storage yard issue in Stoneridge, the other was the possibility of keeping Creek's Bend a Planned Unit Development rather than granting the change to single family zoning.

Jim Jordan, who spoke later on the recreational vehicle yard issue, told The Times that the agenda said merely that the council would consider "pending" litigation. While it's true there could be a lawsuit over the vehicle yard, that's only "potential" litigation, said Jordan.

The council had no right to consider the Stoneridge issue, he stated.

Jordan promised to check with the Alameda County District Attorney's office to see if there has been a violation of the Brown Act.

Scheidig said that either an Attorney General's opinion or a court case has upheld the council's right to hold an executive session on potential litigation. "We don't have to wait until we are sued before we have the right to discuss the issue in private," said Scheidig.

The council's main defense on the recreational yard issue was that a previous city council approved the map, an argument which seems even stronger since the decision handed down in the Morrison case against the city. In effect, the appellate court said that a city council can bind future city councils by its actions.

Jordan thought that was wrong. "If that were true, we couldn't amend anything in our Constitution," he said. "The council said it was the wrong location for a recreational vehicle yard, but they wouldn't act on it because of legal ramifications. Representative government ought to be able to change that." Jordan thought the council is trying to keep Stoneridge Corporation happy because of the pending Stoneridge Regional Center.

Valuation survey for schools

State appraisers are checking Alameda County property values to derive a key figure in the computation of state school equalization aid.

All appraisers carry appropriate identification.

William M. Bennett, member of the State Board of Equalization, said the survey just begun in this county is one of 19 such surveys being conducted this year to bring up to date the findings based on surveys made three years ago.

Owners of properties appraised will be notified of the market value found by the survey and may inspect the appraisal records.

The program, Bennett explained, helps to measure the taxable resources of a school district and determine that local schools get their proper share of state school funds. Other things being equal, the state furnishes more aid to school districts with limited taxable resources than to wealthy districts.

An annual finding of each county's average assessment level, expressed as a percentage of market value for all locally assessed taxable property in the county, is based on the board's survey. This county average is compared to the statewide average. If the county's average conforms substantially, no adjustment is needed. If the assessed values are far out of line, they will be changed to make the county's average conform with the average for the state.

"Whether an adjustment is made or not, the county average and the statewide average based on the 58 county findings are used in a formula by which one and one-sixth billion dollars in state kindergarten through 12th grade school funds are being allocated this year among the state's 1,048 school districts and 58 countywide districts," Bennett said.

The $1.2 billion is 50 per cent of total state aid to school districts, which ran to two and a third billion dollars in 1975-76.

This is but one of a dozen uses to which the assessment level percentages are put. Another important use is to determine the extent to which state loans to school districts for building construction are to be repaid.

Cable TV hearing Monday

Valuation survey for schools

PLEASANTON — The city council set a public hearing on TeleVue System's proposed rate increases for August 23 Monday night.

TeleVue wants the following rate increases: primary outlet, TV or FM, from $6 current rate to $7 desired rate; each additional TV outlet, from $1 to $1.50; FM outlet, from free to $1.50; installation of additional outlet, from $5 to $15; reconnections, from $5 to $10; reconnection of a non-paying disconnected customer, from $5 to $10, plus balance due and a $15 deposit; and relocate existing outlet from $10 to $15.

A new underground installation would remain at the $35 fee.

On another item, the council unanimously approved the recreation department's request to sign a 10 month lease with the county fair for use of the indoor tennis courts at the fairgrounds.

The minimum rent has been lowered from $2,400 per month to $1,900 per month. However, any profit between the $1,900 and $2,400 will accrue cumulatively to the fair. Anything over that will go to the city.

The city made a slight profit off the facility in the five month trial period earlier this year. Council members noted that the indoor tennis facility did not have an adverse effect on the privately run indoor tennis facility, Tennis Town, at the old Reynold Johnson Volkswagen headquarters.

A total of 16,606 people used the facility during the five month trial period, with highest use recorded in February by 4,449 participants. Lightest month was May with 2,271.

The council also proclaimed September 5 through 12 as "Union Label Week" in Pleasanton and granted permission to the recreation department to hang a banner under the Pleasanton sign advertising "George M", a musical comedy which opens today (Friday) at the county fairgrounds amphitheatre with a local cast.

Counselors ready at Livermore High

LIVERMORE — Livermore High School counselors will be available from Sept. 1 to Sept. 8 to register all new students.

They will also see returning students who need to change their programs.

Scheduling information is being mailed to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Freshmen will receive their scheduled classes in a homeroom on Sept. 13.

Freshmen Orientation Day will be Sept. 8, 10 a.m. in the auditorium. Students new to LHS who are not freshmen may also attend orientation.

After the orientation program is over, freshmen will be able to pick up their ID cards, get lockers and become acquainted with the campus.

On Sept. 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., lockers will be issued to the quad to new students and freshmen who do not already have lockers. All returning upperclassmen will keep the same lockers they had last year.

All students who have not yet picked up last semester's report card may do so at any time by reporting to the counseling office.

Muirwood signs OK

PLEASANTON — The city council granted residents near Sandalwood and Muirwood drives their wish for a four way stop at that intersection Monday night.

The vote was 4-1 with Councilman William Herlihy opposed. Herlihy said he had to vote no to be consistent with his earlier opposition to more stop signs on Muirwood Drive.

The request for the four way stop came at the city council's first in a series of scheduled town hall meetings. A resident told the assembly of two dozen at Highland Oaks Cabana Club that he had a petition with 170 names on it and more were on the way.

The council also voted to add two stop signs to the Hillview Court intersection with Muirwood, calling it completion of unfinished business. The council had approved only one stop sign earlier, and it was installed on the downhill approach to the intersection. It helped matters, but was incomplete.

Five in SR council fight

MARTINEZ — With 15 days left until filing closes, five people have signed up for the proposed San Ramon Valley city council election which will be held Nov. 2.

Only one person has actually filed for office. Norman Roberts of Danville, who is a member of the Taxpayers For Local Control Through Incorporation steering committee, has returned his papers.

The five Valleyites include James A. Christl, Howard Miles, Thomas E. Randlett of Danville and Angelo Mark Lucido and James E. Miller of Alamo.

Morrison zone request denied

PLEASANTON — Morrison Homes' request to rezone 22 acres near the Arroyo Del Valle from a Planned Unit Development to single family zoning was unanimously rejected Monday night by the city council.

Council members felt the city would have more control over the property's development if the PUD were kept in effect. The area is ecologically sensitive because of the creek and a creekside trail and park has been discussed for many years for the arroyo, which is at the back of the proposed tract.

Woody Pereira, speaking for Morrison Homes, agreed to meet with area homeowners group president John Fitzgerald and city staff in an effort to look into environmental impacts which the development will have on the creek area and the residential neighborhood already present on the north side of Del Valle Parkway.

Residents are concerned about what the development and subsequent city plans will do to the parkway. Pereira insisted the parkway will live up to its name with a lower speed limit than a collector street and a scenic approach to landscaping. Fitzgerald told commissioners that Hopyard Road carries 11,000 cars daily in the vicinity of Del Valle Parkway and he is concerned that many of them will turn off to the parkway when it is finally put through to Stanley Boulevard at Santa Rita Road.

Councilman William Herlihy said the PUD will give the city better control over the land. It also might encourage the type of development which will help keep housing prices down. It could mean a $10,000 savings in new home prices, something which makes the difference between qualifying or not qualifying for many families, said Herlihy.

No one is sure when a park might be developed along the arroyo, but Morrison Homes is ready to donate its share of the necessary land, said Pereira. He promised a good development and said he needs direction from the city as to how to proceed on the development. The developer — resident — city staff committee intends to give him that direction.

Alameda's Cal Expo contribution

SACRAMENTO — Alameda County visitors to the California State Fair, Aug. 20 through Sept. 7 at Cal Expo in Sacramento, will find their county well represented this year in a variety of exhibits and special events signaling Alameda County's participation in this ingathering of California's "best of the best."

Julie Ann Hemming of Pleasanton, Maid of Alameda County, will represent the county in the Main of California Pageant which opens the gala celebration Aug. 20 and continues the second night of the Fair.

Aug. 23 has been officially designated Alameda County Day at the State Fair. The work of outstanding winners and exhibitors in the Industrial Education competition from the county will be on display throughout the Fair in Building two at Expo Center, including the first prize work of Scott Kirchoff of Fremont and the entries of junior and senior high school students from Oakland and Livermore.

Artists of Alameda County will be represented by first prize gold medal winners David Hering of Berkeley and Karen Jean Jenkins of Livermore. Also by Dennis Lien, Lillian Elliott, Pat Hickman, Nancy Wallace, Antonia Bibik-Christopher, David A. Johnson III, Jane Goralnik Levi and Leonard Lucas whose work won honors in the $7,500 State Fair Fine Arts Award Show. All of this work will be on exhibit during the Fair in two newly decorated Fine Arts buildings at Expo Center.

Alameda County's youthful FFA and 4-H exhibitors have entered the best of their long year's efforts in the junior livestock competitions. Participation by Alameda County in the area of special events and entertainment includes the Dublin Singers competing in the Gospel Singers Talent Search.

A single price admission plus an all-free entertainment policy has been instituted.

Trivial

Come join the Cheese Factory Trivia Champs in their "Trivia World Series" scheduled against King X of San Francisco Tuesday, Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at Terry's Bar, Union Street, San Francisco. A preliminary game will be held between Kelly's All Stars and Jim Lang's All Stars. Persons interested in attending the game via bus are asked to contact Ben Fernandez at 846-4423. Shown above is part of the local team along with spectators aboarding a bus for a previously held game.

The surrender ceremony at Yorktown on Oct. 19, 1781, was sheer pageantry. The British army in bright uniforms marched out between contrasting lines of ragged Continentals and elegantly tailored French troops. Their colors cased and marching to a doleful tune on drums and fife, the British were surrendered to Gen. Benjamin Lincoln who ordered the column to a field where they lay down their arms. Yorktown proved to be the conclusive military event that brought England to the peace table. The World Almanac verifies.

Our little $85,000 home

Every now and then some eager journalist comes up with a scoop suggesting "The era of the single family home is at an end." (We recall making our own prediction along those lines some three years ago.)

The fact is the demand for single family, detached dwellings remains as strong as ever. The only reason this Valley is not currently reflecting that same buying boom is because of our sewer and/or air pollution restraints.

But the expensive homes not being built in Livermore, in Pleasanton or in Dublin are showing up as a new building boom in San Ramon, in Walnut Creek and in Benicia.

They say "you can't keep a tiger in a paper sack." And you are not going to turn off peoples' demand for housing simply by denying them the right to settle on this side of the hill. They can always buy on the other side of the hill.

Neither is the asking price of $85,000 and more for a nice little tract house of real consequence. "Just so long as the buyer qualifies for the those monthly payments," is the expert opinion Total monthly payments that now run to $700, and more, are "easily handled" by couples whose gross income tops $25,000 per year.

What is a greater threat is "the property tax spiral that could drive many owners out of their homes." When the budget is pegged at monthly payments of $690, the family is hard pressed to suddenly come up with $770 per month.

The owner often reacts to all this by refusing to go along with local school tax proposals, new taxes for police protection, or new bonds for parks. It is here we get that one chance to "hold the line on taxes," and it is an opportunity not easily overlooked.

The whole wild spiral — fewer homes for sale here, escalating prices on those available, higher assessments resulting for every home in town — suggests a new crisis in the suburban lifestyle.

It also suggests that those of us who love our community, and would want to sustain it much like it is, are going to have to work hard at doing just that. The prevailing trend is not on our side.

Isabel's trucks

The challenge raised by those Livermore home owners to a "gravel truck route" along Isabel Avenue extension is not surprising. No resident looks forward to an increase in traffic past their property — not along Isabel, not along West Las Positas or any of the other projected Valley thoroughfares.

Livermore city council is correct in insisting that the extension of Isabel from Stanley to I-580 be a bypass that the city has needed for years — "to benefit all Livermore citizens," as Councilman Glen Dahlbacka put it. Again, local government must be permitted some latitude in developing such major bypasses for the benefit of the great majority, notwithstanding the fears of the few.

What "the few" are entitled to know, however, is that a traffic problem of Valley-wide scope is not being shoved onto a street that offers marginal relief, at considerable neighborhood discomfort.

That is the same argument of home owners who contend the use of First Street in Pleasanton as a major gravel truck route was at best a short-term answer to a very long-term problem. Pleasanton city council acknowledged that when they drafted a "five year agreement" in October of 1972 whereby the gravel industry agreed to "proceed immediately" toward development of a permanent link from Stanley Boulevard to I-580.

It was never intended Isabel Avenue in Livermore or First Street through Pleasanton would be that permanent truck route.

What we have now is both city councils bowing to "the county's best alternative" in meeting what has always been a clear obligation: To work with the gravel industry toward development of a truck route through those pits, connecting with El Charro interchange that was specifically funded by the State of California for that purpose.

The property owners in Livermore and in Pleasanton are entitled to one answer — "When is the city council going to demand county action on a route designed to carry the burden of gravel truck traffic out of this Valley?"

Unions hurt too

Taxpayers who believe that "the demands of organized labor wind up hurting the innocent consumer" might want to take stock of these recent figures.

In Alameda County, which underwent that long and bitter strike (felt here with restraints on the Alameda County Fair) one of the results of that standoff has been a 20 percent drop in the union membership.

The county gave union members the option of hauling those union deductions from their paychecks, and almost 900 of some 4200 union employees took that opportunity to drop their membership.

It has been somewhat the same pattern throughout California. Citing "economic stress" a recent survey tells us that union membership has dipped by 38,000 in the two years ending in 1975.

In the five major Bay Area counties, that decline has been even more dramatic. In two years the loss was a whopping 64 percent to a 1975 total figure of 490,900.

None of this suggests that the economy or the consumer are well served when organized labor suffers. Far from it. But it is worth noting that the skyrocketing, sometimes atrocious demands of unions in years of general restraint serve no real purpose, not even the welfare of their own membership.

Families of strike-bound workers have always known that "we never really recoup that loss in wages." Consumers who need those services, small businesses that suffer irretrievable losses, the public that is inconvenienced or even endangered ... all of us know that "strikes never pay."

Not that union members also have the word, perhaps we can start working toward a better way.

system regardless of how much there might be in surplus.

He noted that while California's population doubled in the past two decades, the use of the state parks, beaches and recreational areas had multiplied ten times without any substantial additions to the system.

Whatever faults Earl Warren may have had, as governor he was strong on park development. Under his administration there were major acquisitions of both beaches and parks by the state, as well as development of the properties for recreational use.

This was all done with direct appropriations. In fact there were no park bond issues until 1964 and that was only for $60 million and was chiefly for improvements. A similar bond issue was voted in 1970 and a third, that for $250 million in 1974. Nejedly's will be the first to provide for new purchases.

Shortages of funds might explain the lapse in park acquisitions and development which transpired. The truth is that until Nejedly came along the legislators hadn't shown much interest. For, even without funds, bonds could have issued then as well as now and the property would have been somewhat cheaper.

Not only was interest lacking but Governor Ronald Reagan hit upon the idea of shifting the burden

EARL WATERS

Park $$$

Voters in November will be asked to approve the issuance of $280 million in bonds, primarily for the acquisition of coastal recreational areas to be included into the State Park System. The ballot measure is the result of legislation authored by Senator John Nejedly.

If you are wondering why, with an $800 million budget surplus, the citizens should be asked to incur a debt for this purpose instead of using the money at hand, there are several good answers.

The first is that somehow the anticipated surplus seems to have vanished into thin air. Apparently the estimates of revenues were overly optimistic. At least State Finance Director Roy Bell had warned the solons against usurping the surpluses for new programs. He now says there may not be any surplus even without new appropriations.

In any event Nejedly, whose concern for the parks stems from his duties as chairman of the Natural Resources and Wildlife committee, had felt the pulse of the Legislature and concluded there would be no money for expansion of the park

Fair race dates

Those "big daddies" of horse racing in this state, Bay Meadows, Golden Gate Fields, Hollywood Park and Santa Anita, are not so quietly trying to get race dates increased with little regard for their county fair cousins.

Not that they ever were meant to fill the image of the protective big brother. But, more racing dates mean more revenues to the state, right?

But it would also mean overlapping race dates, which could be disastrous to Greater Bay Area county fair meets such as Alameda and Solano.

Three bills concerning racing dates were introduced into the Assembly earlier this year, but just one has survived and that one (in amended form) is now headed for the state Senate's finance committee.

Authored by a Long Beach legislator, the bill would retain the same number of racing dates (34 weeks) as presently allotted for tracks in north state.

Jack Brooks, an Alameda County Fair Association director who is keeping tabs on the legislation, said he's not sure if the bill provides for additional racing dates for southern section tracks.

In addition to Santa Anita at Arcadia and Hollywood Park in Inglewood, Del Mar on the south coast near Oceanside is a major draw each year.

It is possible, though, considering the seven million population of Greater Los Angeles, that these tracks could take additional racing dates and still not drive operators of Los Angeles County Fair racing into the doldrums.

But it would be a different story here.

Can you imagine the impact on Pleasanton racing if Bay Meadows or Golden Gate Fields was running at the same time as the Alameda County Fair meet?

The Cullen bill referred to would prevent this.

It is this writer's belief that all efforts should be directed at maintaining the individual fair's integrity, not only in regard to racing but exhibits, displays of local products and overall planning.

County fairs and expositions, and it seems like the valley one especially, are being buffeted from all sides.

If it's not some legislator with a new scheme (Assemblyman Wilson with his bill to add racing dates), it's a legislative committee, or the horsemen, unions or some supposedly well-meaning citizens group.

Wilson's bill was compromised right out of existence...fortunately.

But the promoters and "big-money" boys are still lining up.

As witness the success of the group backing dog racing in getting the issue on the November ballot (It'll be Proposition 13).

Which is just one more reason why supporters of the original concept of a county or county fair should come forward to speak up for this uniquely American enterprise.

Candid mayor

At times it felt like I was working on a Watergate story which could lead to the toppling of a government, in this case the Pleasanton City Council. But the net result was much less spectacular, now that all the research has been done.

The research showed that Mayor Robert Philcox, one of the five votes for a commercial zoning for the Oak Tree Center early this year, had some business dealings with the center.

The center bought two parcels from Morrison Homes, one of them containing First National Bank's drive-in facility on Valley Avenue, the other just west of that Parcel, a 20,000 square foot piece with office zoning on it, but no sewer connections.

The center sold the bank the parcel on which it sits for $140,000, a welcome relief from the escalation clause lease which the bank had from Morrison Homes. The center kept the second parcel and First Bank financed the mortgage on it.

Oak Tree Center paid $200,000 for the two pieces. By selling one to the bank for $140,000 and getting a $57,000 mortgage loan on the second, it had to come up with only $3,000 cash. That amounts to 95 percent financing.

My informant, whom I shall call "DT", after a similar informant to Woodward and Bernstein, told me that no prudent banker would lend $57,000 on a vacant 20,000 square foot with; Philcox had a good explanation. Yes, the bank had been in a lease with Morrison Homes and was happy to buy the parcel from Oak Tree Center, which had the first option on the parcel.

But Philcox did not know that Oak Tree Center had paid $200,000 for the two parcels. If the center put together 95 percent financing, in effect, then it's Oak Tree's business. The corner parcel was brought before the loan committee of the bank and it felt that a $57,000 mortgage was proper. He added that he was not involved in appraising the corner parcel; that was done by bank president Warren Harding.

Philcox owns stock in the bank, just enough to qualify him for the board of directors. There's no question about a legal conflict of interest; he would not benefit personally from having the shopping center next to the drive-in facility, though the bank would benefit somewhat, as he acknowledged.

Philcox noted that any businessman can have a conflict of interest on a city council. What's important is that you are straight and above-board about it. Philcox was straight in dealing with me about this issue.

?/I DT, think, is still suspicious, but the ultimate judge is the council member himself or herself, and in the background the approval or disapproval of the voters. It's community standards which really determine the grey areas like a moral conflict of interest.

Round the town

Breakfast has always been one of my favorite meals.

I mean, your stomach arises, free from the certain cares of the day. The digestive track has not yet been asked to absorb the world's woes.

And the lady of the house — God and the Serta Perfect willing — is in one of her more generous moods.

"What would you like for breakfast sweetie," she asks, sweetly.

"It's been a long haul between servings of French toast," is my ready reply. "With Canadian bacon."

"No problem," she says. "It'll be on the table by the time you've shaved."

That is the scenario for a Happy American Home. It is also a fantasy that rarely knows its moment of truth.

"I was hoping you would have gotten out here in time to get the white bread out of the freezer," she says, a might testily. The freezer is outside. Obviously a man's duty.

"Is frozen white bread essential to the making of French toast?" I ask, foolishly.

"I don't think you'd go for French toast made from whole wheat bread," is the answer. "Maybe you'd settle for a nice omelet with that ham left over from yesterday mixed in."

It is important to note that the stomach has already been required to make several major adjustments, even this early in the day. First, there is the switch from French toast to ham omelet, not a small digestive transition. And there is the further change from the little lady's rising - out - of - bed - good - humor to the uncertainty that permeates the kitchen, at just 30 minutes past seven.

"Oh darn," she says, firmly. "The kid must have cleaned up the last of the ham. I wish she wouldn't do that."

I wish too. But it is a desire long ago lost in the rearing of children versus the protection of the refrigerator. The two were never compatible.

"I suppose a ham omelet without the ham is something of an impossibility," I suggest, anticipating her next announcement. "The usual soft boiled eggs with toast would be just fine ... really it would."

Years of marital and culinary trials have taught me the wisdom of retreat, preferably well before the battle is joined.

"Are you sure that would be alright?" she asks. "I could give you some of that nice strawberry preserve to go with the toast."

Further revelations will no doubt tell us that the strawberry preserve has also been depleted, or gone bad, or fallen on the floor. The chances of fresh strawberry preserve actually getting from the planning stage to the kitchen table are one in eight, I have concluded.

I have learned never to count my fresh strawberry preserve until it is on the toast, so to speak. It is, in that regard, much like French toast.

"The tea is unusually good this morning," says I, an obvious gesture to placate the cook.

"The kid made it for you in that other pot," she replies. "I have just about given up trying to make tea that satisfies you."

It is now 7:42. The day of such early - on promise has degenerated into another test for survival. The stomach is starting to rumble. The digestive tract is stuck on a piece of that damned dry toast, there being no butter available this morning ... "And I distinctly remember telling the kid to buy some last night."

She is a wonderful cook, really. But the lady of the house rates little more than a two on a logistical scale of ten. Supplies are either "on their way," or "still in the freezer," or in the "I must add that to my list" category.

We are made keenly aware of these shortages first thing in the morning. Like all good generals, she sets forth the day's battle plan with the best of intentions.

But what with one skirmish after another, we rarely accomplish by day's end what had been so nobly assigned at dawn's early light.

"Make up your mind what you'll want for dinner," she announces as we prepare to launch the commercial part of our day. "I'll have to get something out of the freezer."

The stomach, which by now is in a state of turmoil over these repeated changes, undergoes a minor explosion when word of "What's for dinner" filters down through the system. Mine is one stomach that has never been able to work up juices of anticipation over dinner, not when a piece of dry toast has yet to complete its appointed rounds for breakfast.

"I really have no strong preference," I reply, breezily. "What ever you have on hand for dinner will be fine with me." Wrong answer.

"How can I prepare nice meals if you won't help me plan the menu," she says, firmly. "No wonder you're so thin."

Ah yes, I will tell all that to my stomach, once everything settles down.

Truck tempest

Editor, The Times:

If you are compacent about our ability to "muddle through," as the British say, may I direct your attention to a current tempest in a tea pot in our fair metropolis. And that is the crack down on the parking of trucks on public roads and streets.

If you as a truck driver suddenly had to operate as though you were an airplane pilot and arrange auxiliary transportation between your home and the "truck port," wouldn't you join up with your fellow pilots for an increase in wages to cover the extra expense, lost time and inconvenience?

I ask you to consider, which is most important to the general public; continued smooth and economical truck service bringing all those things which make it possible for us to live in suburbia? or that last forty winks for those not-so-early risers who complained about the noise? Having decided that question now ponder how the city council in its wisdom reached its decision. Did it decide on the basis of what is most important for the general public? or on the basis of the number of potential votes on each side of the argument?

If you came up with the same answers that I did, please tell me how much farther we can hope to progress under the democratic system as increasing affluence forces more and more decisions by popularity contests rather than by greatest good to the greatest number. If the truck parking example leaves you cold, consider what rent control has done for New York City.

Opening lead — 10♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

How would you play today's hand against an opening lead of the 10 of diamonds? Would you lose a diamond and a heart or would you be smart enough to play West for three hearts to the queen?

When the late Sidney Silodor of Philadelphia, one of the great players, held the hand he adopted a most unusual but very successful line of play.

He rose with dummy's ace of diamonds while dropping the queen from his own hand.

Then he led a heart to his ace and a second heart to dummy's jack. The finesse worked and since the queen of clubs dropped doubleton he had no trouble making seven.

Had Sidney seen the queen in the West hand? No, he hadn't, but his whole line had constituted a safety play.

Suppose that East held the queen of hearts and won that second trump trick. Would he have laid down his king of diamonds? Not on your life! Suppose West had led from the king of diamonds?

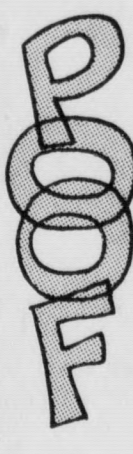

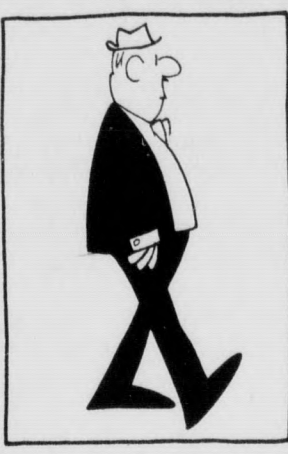

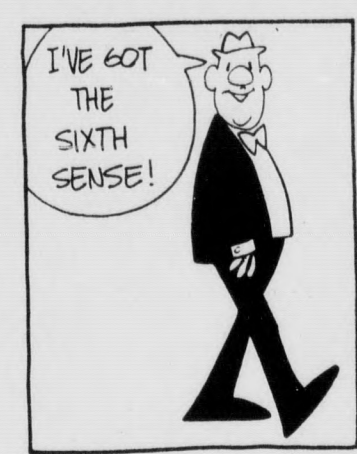

Sidney would have paid off, but great players know their opponents and Sidney knew that West did not lead from kings against slams.

Ask the Jacobys

A Pennsylvania reader asks about the meaning of the double on the bidding sequence: one spade-pass-two diamonds-double.

In standard American and in all normal systems this double is for takeout and shows the two unbid suits.

Floyd and friends

IT WAS AN EVENING FOR FLOYD MORI and a sparkling cross-section of Valley residents responded to the invitation to rap with the 15th district Assemblyman, and to make a small contribution to his upcoming bid for re-election.

Barbara and Marshall Kamena lent their lovely Merritt Place home to the champagne affair, and were joined in greeting guests by members of the assemblyman's staff, in addition to Floyd and his gracious wife, Irene. These photos (by Alton Jelks) captured just a few of those notables on hand for the festive evening.

In the third scene, Representative Pete Stark and John Edmands, editor of The Times, share some frank talk with the Democratic Assemblyman from Pleasanton.

School bus crash prober tells of findings

YUBA CITY (AP) — A speed limit sign at the site of California's worst school bus crash is obscured by a pole, the chairman of a panel conducting hearings into the tragedy said Thursday.

Philip Hogue of the National Transportation Safety Board told state highway engineer Charles Sweet that he has driven the Marina Vista offramp of Interstate 680 himself and talked with "dozens" of others who use it.

"I have found no one who does not feel the sign is partially obscured by a post," said Hogue.

Sweet acknowledged that a light pole does "momentarily obscure" the 20 mile an hour advisory limit sign on the offramp but said the sign is visible for three quarters of a mile before the ramp.

Previous testimony in the hearings, held Tuesday through Thursday at the Yuba City High School gymnasium, indicated the bus was traveling 35 to 38 m.p.h. when it hit a concrete guardrail before flying off the ramp and landing upside down 21 feet below. Twenty-eight high school choir members and a woman chaperone were killed.

The NTSB hearings will be incorporated into a report later on causes of the accident and ways to guard against similar tragedies.

California Highway Patrol Sgt. Troy Blazingame said Thursday an inspection of the bus after the crash showed the driver, Evan Prothero, apparently had not downshifted to slow the bus before entering the ramp.

A broken air compressor belt earlier had robbed the bus of its air brakes and nothing happened when Prothero applied them once he was on the off ramp, according to a CHP investigation of the accident.

Blazingame also said marks on the railing and on the bus's handbrake controls indicated that emergency brakes had been applied — but apparently too late.

Prothero, 50, is still hospitalized with a broken pelvis and other injuries and has not yet been able to tell his story to investigators.

Also Thursday, a technician for Gates Rubber Co., manufacturers of the compressor belt, said wear on the belt should have been "easily visible" 200 to 1,000 miles before it broke. Herbert Brown, a partner in the firm that owned the bus, testified earlier that he had "glanced" at the belt the day of the crash and said it looked fine.

Sweet also testified that to his knowledge the design of the curb wasn't a factor in the bus's plunge over the side. Safety specialist Jack Baird, formerly of the University of Southern California, theorized in earlier testimony that a 10-inch curb may have pointed the bus in an upward direction, launching it on its climb over the 21-inch guardrail.

Foreign students frolic

Exuberant Moroccan students were made welcome at the Pleasanton home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boatwright as part of their week's stay in the Bay Area, guests of the Metropolitan YMCA of Alameda County. The seven tanned English language students, and three teacher-escorts felt at home in the California sunshine, and greatly enjoyed visits to the University of California at Berkeley, a McDonald's restaurant and A's baseball game. They're off to Southern California and Disneyland today, but several hope to return to American schools in the future. Boatwright is a board member of Twin Valley YMCA.

Livermore to again seek override

LIVERMORE — As promised by the Livermore City Council shortly after the public safety tax override was defeated last March, the measure will go before the voters again this November.

The council unanimously approved Monday night placing the public safety override on the general election ballot Nov. 2. The same wording will be used.

If approved, the measure would empower the city to levy an additional tax of 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation to be used exclusively for supplementing the operation of the police and fire departments.

When it appeared as Measure A on the March 2 municipal election ballot, the override was defeated by 714 votes, 4,243 against and 3,529 in favor.

The public safety override also will be known as Measure A on the November ballot.

If it passes, the override would raise about $350,000 which would be used exclusively for hiring additional fire and police personnel.

Noting that Livermore now ranks significantly below the national and county average manpower in both departments, the council feels the measure is critical to the safe operation of the city.

The measure has the support of the Livermore Police Officers Association and the Livermore Firefighters Association.

Another man of God, Rev. V. M. Cowan, got a permit to use the soon-to-be-vacated post office building on Main Street for a vocational skills center. He has applied for a $200,000 federal grant to make the dream come true.

Livermore Barn rocks for teenagers

The featured rock groups at tonight's teen dance at the Barn in Livermore will be "Good Feelin'" and "Andromeda." As an added attraction, there also will be an electric light show, produced by "Lights by Ace" of Livermore.

The Barn which opens its doors to teens throughout the valley is located next to the Livermore Library, near Pacific and Dolores Streets. Chaperones for the evenings event open the doors at 8 p.m. with dancing until 11:30 p.m. Entrance fee is $1.50. Refreshments are available.

The dances are held every Friday night with the following bands to be appearing in the future: "Cut-Eye Higgins," "Mixed Company," "Catalyst," "Andromeda" and "Good Feelin'."

The dances are sponsored by the American Senior League to raise funds for their ball diamonds. For further information, call 455-0462.

Pleasanton planners tackle church items

PLEASANTON — The planning commission dealt with three churches and four ministers and didn't once violate the First Amendment rights of separation of church and state, Deputy City Attorney Harvey Levine pointed out to commissioners.

As someone else said at the meeting Wednesday night, it was "church" night and the reverends did right well.

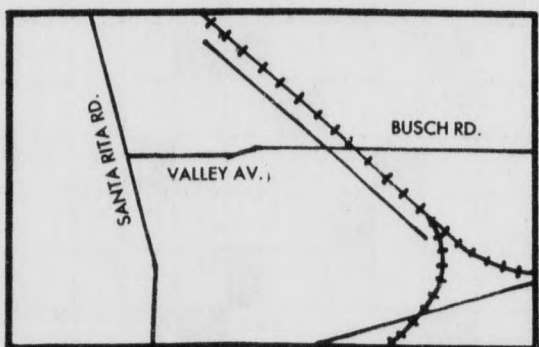

The Evangelical Church, begun 10 years ago in Dublin and currently meeting at Valley View School, won approval for two buildings totaling 15,000 square feet on a former "future school site" in Valley Trails. Neighbors did not oppose the church per se, but did object to what they feel will be a compounding of the traffic problem on Valley Trails Drive. The street's entrance to Hopyard Road is suicidal, according to residents' testimony. Approval of the church accelerates the need for traffic lights at those intersections, said the residents.

Planning commissioners asked about the possibility of traffic lights and were told by Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby that many factors enter into installation of the lights, including accident history of the intersection.

Another church to win the favor of the commission was Valley Christian Center which won a five year use permit to conduct a day school at St. Augustine Church's educational facilities. The church also won approval for a relocatable classroom on the site.

Nature delays Diane's trip

TUCSON, Ariz. — The wrath of nature has torn up Diane Dunbar's ticket to the People's Republic of China.

The United States Olympic gymnastics team was scheduled to make a trip to the world's most populous nation and Pleasanton's Dunbar was to go along as a substitute for Cathy Howard, who had opted for another junket.

But the tragic earthquakes that destroyed several large Chinese cities and killed countless persons have forced cancellation of the trip, scheduled to begin Sunday.

"The decision to cancel was made by the United States-China Relations Committee," explained Marlene Bene of the United States Gymnastic Federation from her office here yesterday. "Actually, it's not really off — it's been postponed until the Chinese government is ready to have a team over there."

While the extensive damage led to speculation that the trip, to include two competitive meets and two exhibitions, will never be made, Bene said, "It will certainly be no later than September."

Dunbar, a 17-year old Foothill High School student who earned a gold medal at the 1974 Pan-American Games, and her teammates are not alone. All trips to the mainland have been put off and all foreign diplomats have been evacuated from the country.

LA drivers dominate moto-cross

Drivers from the Los Angeles Police Department dominated the moto-cross motorcycle racing competition of the 10th annual California Police Olympics at Carnegie Cycle Park yesterday afternoon.

LA City police took three of the six divisions and placed several men in each one.

Robert Paulis of Los Angeles won the 125cc Masters competition and came back to take the Open Class Masters. He beat out fellow LA officer David Turgail in the 125cc race. Rex Hopkins of Los Angeles took the 250cc competition ahead of J.D. Williamson, another LA officer.

Alan Kent of Costa Mesa won the Open Class championship as he won the last heat easily. Paul Eaton of the Santa Clara force finished second and James Richardson of Santa Monica was third.

Walter Harper of the California Highway Patrol finished second behind Paulis in the Open Class Masters race. Williamson placed third.

Other championships went to Glen Cox of Placencia in the 125cc class and Keith Carlson of the San Mateo County Sheriff's in the 250cc competition.

Gene Canandy of Los Angeles, a long-time veteran driver and prehaps the favorite to take the Open Class competition, suffered a slight injury when his cycle split in two going up a hill during the second heat.

Canandy had a big lead in the race but as he started to climb up the hill the front part of the cycle broke loose. The Los Angeles officer suffered a fractured wrist and was taken to Valley Memorial Hospital in Livermore.

The veteran driver won his first heat of the Open Class easily over Kent.

One sideline observer felt Canandy's bike might have been too fragile.

"That's the first time I ever saw that," the observer admitted said about the bike breaking in half. "But that Canandy is as tough as nails. It will take much more than that to stop him."

Canandy is scheduled to compete in an African race next month. However, his injury may put a damper on that prospect.

Foreman finishes workouts, meets LeDoux tomorrow

UTICA, N.Y. — A moody George Foreman conclude workouts here today for his next step along the comeback trail, a 10-round bout with unknown Scott LeDoux at 6300-seat Memorial Auditorium here Saturday night.

It will be only Foreman's third fight since losing the World Heavyweight Championship to Muhammad Ali in Kinshasa, Zaire in fall of 1974.

He got up off the floor to knock out persistent ex-offender Ron Lyle in the fifth round in Las Vegas to end their January fight and came back in June to KO a newly-shaved Joe Frazier in the fifth at Nassau County Coliseum in Uniondale.

LeDoux, of Minneapolis, is not given much more of a chance by observers here. He brings into the ring an 18-3-1 record and a spark of determination.

"I came here to beat Foreman," has been LeDoux's constant refrain. Foreman, 42-1 with 39 knockouts — not including the embarrassing one-at-a-time five-man battle royal in Toronto or a later exhibition in San Francisco — has been uncharacteristically reticent, perhaps accounting for the lack of publicity shrouding the fight.

Should Foreman, who still maintains a home in Livermore and a gym in the Rincon Shopping Center, get past what appears to be a tune-up fight, he already has another offer.

British promoter Jeff Solomon yesterday offered George $1.5 million to fight recently un-retired Joe Bugner in London some time late in September.

Underneath the title bout Saturday will be another heavyweight bout.

Cleveland's Jeff Merritt, who suffered a one-punch knockout to Henry Clark in his only Bay Area appearance, will face Stan Ward of Sacramento.

Biletnikoff may go elsewhere

SANTA ROSA — Fred Biletnikoff, one of the National Football League's all-time reception leaders, said before the Oakland Raiders left their training camp here Thursday that he plans to play out his option this season and go elsewhere next year.

The 12-year veteran told a San Jose Mercury reporter that he made the decision after failing to reach a contract agreement with Al Davis, managing general partner of the Raiders.

"I wasn't asking for anything out of line, only for what I feel could be given," Biletnikoff said, adding that he doubted he would change his mind and be with the Raiders next year.

"When I give something this much thought before making up my mind, I usually stick to it. I think it will be great to be able to negotiate with other teams next season," he said.

Because of his contract problems, Biletnikoff missed the Raiders' exhibition opener. But he played last weekend in a victory over St. Louis, catching three passes for 48 yards, and is expected to face the Jets in New York tonight.

Biletnikoff's 494 receptions rank him ninth among the NFL's all-time pass catchers, and he is second only to Washington's Charley Taylor among active receivers.

Alameda, Contra Costa play in All-Star grid classic

PLEASANT HILL — Five former East Bay Athletic League players will be in action when the Contra Costa and Alameda County All-Stars tangle at Diablo Valley College here tomorrow night.

Mike Bowles of San Ramon is the only EBAL player on the Contra Costa side.

However, quarterback Rich Palmer of Livermore and John Walden, Steve Jaeger and Ron Freeman, all of Granada, will play for Alameda.

Bowles will start at fullback for Contra Costa. He has been one of the bright spots of the CC training camp.

Bowles is 6-4, 220 pounds and has surprising speed for a guy his size. He can go all the way on any play and has excellent balance.

Contra Costa will also have a fine quarterback in Ed Fitzgerald of Northgate. Fitzgerald was given the nod over John Lucido of Alhambra.

Perhaps Contra Costa's biggest asset is its receiving corps. Flanker Ron Cocimiglio of Clayton Valley was one of the finest all-around players in the state last fall and has great hands. Taggie Sharpe of Salesian has good size (6-2, 178) and plenty of speed as does Alhambra's David Baum.

Palmer will do the kicking for Alameda. He could also put in some playing time at quarterback.

Freeman could see action both ways for Alameda. An outstanding wrestler at Granada, he has great strength despite the fact he is rather small for an All-Star lineman.

Jaeger should play alot at running back. He helped form one of the East Bay's best running attacks last season at Granada. He has been praised in camp for his attitude and all-around ability.

Alameda appears to have the edge in overall speed while Contra Costa is slightly larger in the line. Perhaps the key to the contest will be how Alameda's quarterbacks withstand the pressure of the large Contra Costa line.

Walden, Palmer, Allan Regier of Mt. Eden and Jim King of Moreau are the Alameda quarterbacks. All are adapt at the veer offense which Alameda will use.

Tickets for the 7:30 p.m. game will go on sale at DVC ticket offices at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The offices will remain open through game time. They are also available ($3 general admission and $5 reserved) at Fletcher's Team Shop, 34 South St. in Livermore.

Sports Supply topples Fil-Am

A three-run first inning gave American Sports Supply the lead for good as it took a 4-2 win over Fil-Am in Livermore Area Recreation and Park District men's softball Wednesday evening.

Pat Bond, Chris Hosby, Scott Kone, Jim Ward, Ken Pierce, Mike Tirriano and George Griener singled for the winners. Dick Nickison had two hits as did Albert Del Castillo and Bing Santos for the Fil-Am club.

Paul Sengo, Rey De La Cruz and Bob Del Castillo also rapped base hits for the loser.

Power at the bottom of the order and a last inning insurance rally gave the Cebu Association a 10-4 triumph over the Oaks Club.

Ken Shelton singled and tripled for Cebu while Jim Villar had two hits, including a double. Skip Weston also singled and doubled while Jim Evaristo, Louis Pades and Lou Fiori each had a pair of hits for the winners.

Albert Tayo doubled and Larry Nadeau singled to round off the Cebu attack. Gary Neto's four hits and three runs scored went in vain for the losers.

Willie Pinierton and Tim Van Slambrouck each doubled for the Oaks while Ron Seagraves, Kent Goddard, Danny King and Ray Macias singled.

Ace Hardware, meanwhile, teed off on the Lamp Lighters to come away with a 26-6 victory.

Council tours city history

PLEASANTON — The city council will take an old-fashioned walk some time in the next six weeks to examine the 10 historical structures which the Amador-Livermore Valley Historical Society thinks are important to the city. Councilman William Herlihy made the suggestion at the city council meeting Monday night. He thought the council might conclude its tour with a box lunch social at Century House. The Bicentennial Committee will be approached for its interest in the idea, too. Councilman Frank Brandes thought that the tour might be helpful in giving the council some perspective on its historical overlay district ordinance. The council has been asked by citizens to appoint the five member committee which will implement the ordinance, but council members want to test community sentiment about whether the law would be fair and effective.

The 10 structures listed by the historical society as having value include the Kottiger Adobe Barn, 200 Ray St.; Presbyterian Church, Second and Neal streets; Pleasanton Hotel; Furniture on Main building, Neal and Main streets; Shoe Stable (Johnson building), Neal and Main streets; Amaral and Walker's office building, 52 W. Neal St.; Kolln Hardware, 600 Main St.; Joshua Neal Home, 431 Neal St.; Lee and Bessie Wells Home, 4466 Second St.; and the Rathbone House (Thomas Nerton residence), 462 St. Mary St.

The council would not expect to tour the interior of the private residences, Herlihy noted.

A boost for Stanley annex

PLEASANTON — The city council voted unanimously Monday night to proceed with Frank Auf der Maur's request for annexation of property on Stanley Boulevard.

The council recommended that the matter go to the Local Agency Formation Commission for a hearing.

The annexation would create an island to the south in the old Remen tract (Linden Way, Vine Street and Virginia Way), but it is unlikely in view of improvement costs that residents there would vote to be included in the Auf der Maur annexation, Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby told the council.

The council also applied to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors for $108,251 in county gas tax appropriations. The money is doled out according to a formula for cities in the county.

Council members concurred with minor housekeeping amendments made in the Associated Community Action Program joint powers agreement and also changed minor points about variance procedure in the zoning ordinance so it will conform with requirements of a new state law.

The council agreed to accept the deed to the former Catholic rectory on Rose Avenue for $60,000 to make way for Peters Avenue. Construction is expected to begin next summer.

The city also agreed to enter into an agreement with Southern Pacific for special railroad signals at the Neal Street crossing which will pre-empt the traffic signals when a train approaches the crossing. Neal Street motorists will get a red light when the train approaches, similar to the arrangement on Murrieta Boulevard in Livermore.

So, what's new?

Safari's benefit car wash

LIVERMORE — Get your car or pickup washed to perfection at the Union '76 station, Chestnut and L Streets, Saturday.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and price is $1 for cars, $1.50 for pickups.

Proceeds will benefit the Bicentennial Safari group of 40 junior high students who are traveling east next month to visit historical landmarks. The Safari is sponsored by the school district and Livermore Bicentennial Organization, but families have to finance the $750 trip themselves. So far, they have managed to defray about $200 of that cost.

TOUGH CHOICE

YOU GOT IT.

Not only does Toyota make four of the toughest, most dependable trucks around, but trying to decide which of our four models to buy can be one of the toughest decisions you'll ever make. That's because all four are built with a rugged, welded-steel frame. And that makes them strong enough to carry up to 1,100-pound pay-loads—a truck full of furniture, farm supplies or three full-sized dirt bikes.

Talk about power. Every Toyota truck comes with the revolutionary 20R power plant, our 2.2-litre aluminum head overhead cam engine with the biggest displacement and highest torque rating in its class. Designed from the ground up to give maximum power and still meet emission controls without adding a lot of extra hardware. The 20R will take you from 0 to 55 in a quick 11.8 seconds. And combined with the electric fuel pump and our durable 5-speed overdrive transmission it's a performance story that's tough to beat.

Talk about a tough choice. We offer the widest selection of trucks in our class. Each one with man-sized cabs that offer more head, shoulder and hip room than our leading competitor. Will you choose our Long Bed with an optional 5-speed transmission or our SR-5 Sport Truck Long Bed with a standard 5-speed overdrive? Or our 4-speed models available on either the regular or Long Bed? Or our SR-5 regular bed with a standard 5-speed? Or would you rather have our optional automatic transmission on both bed sizes? It's all available and it's all up to you.

Talk about service. That's the one thing that isn't tough. There are 1,000 Toyota dealers all across America staffed with Toyota trained mechanics ready to give you the quality service quality trucks deserve. We believe we make the toughest quality line of trucks in the world. That's what gives us the confidence to say...if you can find a better built truck than a Toyota...buy it!

Mother Teresa of Calcutta

"I think the world today is up-side-down, and is suffering so much because there is so very little love in homes, and in family life. We have not time for our children, we have no time for each other...everybody today seems to be in such a terrible rush, anxious for greater developments and greater riches and so on, so that children have very little time for parents. Parents have very little time for each other, and in the home begins disruption of the peace of the world."

TRI-VALLEY DATSUN

LEASE? YES

This is one of the most thrifty ways to satisfy your transportation needs. Your monthly payment is smaller and the amount of cash down is generally less than on a purchase contract.

VERY LOW PAYMENT

Beware this can be bad news. Compare the value of the car at the end of the lease. If you think value shown is more than the car will be worth look out because most leases require you to pay the difference.
